

I am writing out of concern that the Sinclair Broadcasting network has announced plans to require their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary within days of the Presidential election.

This matter is of the upmost seriousness because this media owner has clearly selected the time and program content to use the public airwaves to attempt to interfere with a national election. Moreover the station is not attempting to ballance this view point with programs having a range of divergent views.

Because this involves possible interference in a national election, the FCC should take immediate action to insure this large network does not use the public airwaves as a tool for private political interest.

All the best,
Dave Wieneke